Mobeze Is First to Feature Click-and-Connect Service

Internet Dating Site Members Can Set Up Private Phone Calls
With a Mouse Click

DALLAS (September 14, 2005) – Mobeze, Inc., developer of OnlineBootyCall.com, a San Diego-based online dating community, has become the first Internet destination to install PrivateTel's Click-and-Connect phone service that lets members set up private phone calls with the click of a mouse.

Using OnlineBootyCall.com's (OBC) branded "First Call" service, members can now connect by phone with a favorite online friend. After clicking OBC's First Call URL, the service dials members who pick up their phones and chat without the need to reveal each other's real phone number, ensuring the privacy of both parties. The prepaid service is available for $9.95 for 30 minutes or $14.95 for 60 minutes.

"We are pleased to be first in the online dating industry to feature innovative Click-and-Connect technology, which is affordable, easy to install and simple to use," said Moses Brown, Founder and CEO of Mobeze, Inc. "Our members can now communicate together by phone in a secure, private environment."

Added PrivateTel CEO Pete Pattullo, "PrivateTel's anonymous phone services are positioned as an essential feature for online dating communities. We are pleased that Mobeze, Inc. has taken the lead in delivering phone services that increase the privacy, safety and convenience of its members."

Online dating sites can install Click-and-Connect with no equipment or software to purchase and no capital investment. The service can be re-branded and integrated with any Web site, used in a Web-connected desktop application, managed online and integrated with customer and member databases.

Click-and-Connect uses state-of-the-art telephony solutions deployed on the NetworkIP web-integrated telecommunications platform that offers best in class switching, computing hardware, data storage, and IP networking with the capacity to handle 10 billion minutes per year.
